Embed a YouTube Video in a PowerPoint Presentation

To embed a YouTube video in a PowerPoint presentation using a Mac or PC, proceed as follows:

1. Open your PowerPoint presentation in work mode to the blank slide on which you plan to embed your YouTube video.

2. If in the upper left-hand corner of your presentation's first slide it says, "Security warning: references to external media objects have been blocked," then in the upper right corner, click on "enable content."

3. Open your YouTube video and click on the two little vertical pause lines to stop it; move the cursor to numerical starting point (for example, 0:20 seconds). Right under the YouTube video, click share.

4. In the white rectangle, click on start at numbered starting point, e.g., 0:20 seconds; click on embed.

5. In the next white rectangle, under the lengthy code, click on start at the same numbered starting point, e.g., 0:20 seconds; under embed options, click Show player controls; click on embed.

6. Highlight the long code to select it. Copy the code, using Command-C on a Mac or Control-C on a PC.

7. Click on your selected PowerPoint slide.

8. On your computer's top gray tool bar area click insert, scroll down to video, click online video;

   - On a Mac: Then paste the code (using command-V) into the upper long, narrow, horizontal rectangular area that appears; click insert.

   - On a PC: Then go to the far right of the tool bar to the Media icon. Click on Media, click on the word video, then click on online video. A new blank box appears. Type control-V, then click insert.

9. Your YouTube video will appear on your PowerPoint slide. Size your video by pulling a corner diagonally and click save to complete the task.

Note: If on a Mac your YouTube video appears as a black rectangle, proceed as follows:
1. Click on the YouTube video you've just embedded.
2. In the gray bar in the upper part of your screen, click on the underlined words Video Format; if not, just click on poster frame and under that, click on reset. On your slide's YouTube video, click save. The black should be gone.
