VACTING WORKSHOP—ADVANCED

Coordinators: Panny King, Marilyn Rosen

Here we focus on advanced acting techniques for more experienced actors. We will utilize scene study and exercises to further develop acting skills, which will enable the class to move ahead with a more comprehensive curriculum.

■ B WEEK / Monday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

New course ANCIENT AND MODERN WONDERS OF THE WORLD

Coordinators: Joan Briller, Bob Reiss, Jerry Wiesenberg

What makes a monument, bridge, building or waterway such a marvel of design and construction that it captures our imagination? This course will present ancient and modern wonders in the context of their culture, telling the story of how and why they were built. Examples may range from the Colossus of Rhodes to the "Chunnel," from the Temple of Artemis at Ephesus to the Golden Gate Bridge. Our overall intention is to echo the credo of the American Society of Civil engineers: "The wonders demonstrate man's ability to achieve unachievable feats, reach unreachable heights and scorn the notion that 'it can't be done'."

■ A WEEK / Monday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

ARTISTS AND THEIR WORK

Coordinators: Sandy Gordon, Isidore Schwartzman

Art is the visual language of culture and society, and artists are their scribes. Using lectures and visuals, we explore art history, examining the life and times of the artists as well as their work. During this fall semester, we invite presenters to select as their subject an artist of their choice, discussing the artist, the period and the work.

■ B WEEK / Tuesday / 10:30am to 12pm

Fall Courses

ART WORKSHOP

Coordinators: Helen Neilson, Randy Stills

Here's your chance to try your hand at something you may have thought about doing but lacked the time—or the courage! In a nonjudgmental setting, you can create original artwork. You can draw an apple, paint a flower or design a collage. The class is for all levels of expertise, from first-timers to old hands.

■ A WEEK / Wednesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

New course ASPECTS OF WESTERN DANCE

Coordinators: Harriet Greenberg, Ruth Kovner, Sandra Southwell

We will briefly discuss the early history of ballet—the contributions of great classical choreographers such as Moliere, Pierre Beauchamps, Jeanne Lully, Frederick Ashton, Marius Petipa, and Serge Diaghilev. We will then focus on 20th- and 21st-century classical and contemporary dance—on Balanchine, Robbins, de Mille, Paul Taylor and other choreographers and their relationships with their star performers. The course will be non-technical, and presenters will make ample use of videos and illustrations.

■ A WEEK / Monday / 10:30am to 12pm

THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY: "A LEGACY OF ASHES" Coordinators: Al Lewis, Helen McMahon, Dave Robinson

The course will continue to study the history of American intelligence, concentrating on the George W Bush administration, the role of the C.I.A. in the justification for—and the prosecution of—the Iraq War, the secret rendition program, domestic spying, turf conflict with other agencies, the subordination of the C.I.A. to the Director of National Intelligence, and the C.I.A. in the Obama administration.

■ A WEEK / Thursday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

CONTEMPORARY OPERA

Coordinators: Joan Briller, Steven Koenig

At each session we view a different opera and engage in a lively discussion of the text, staging and medium. We compare productions and correlate each work with historical and cultural events. This semester may include Berg's Lulu, Meredith Monk's Ellis Island, Ravel's L'heure Espagnol, Dusapin's Faust's Last Night, Birtwhistle's The Minotaur, Poulenc's La Voix Humaine, Hindemith's Cardillac, Pizzetti's Assassinio nella Cattedrale, as well as jazz and computer opera.

■ A WEEK / Wednesday / 10:30am to 12pm

CONTEMPORARY SHORT STORIES

Coordinators: Eleanor Chernick, Eileen Mund

At every session, two class members introduce one story each from our anthology (currently The Pen/O.Henry Prize Stories 2009, edited by Laura Furman) or, at alternate sessions, international stories in translation. The person introducing the story gives some background on the author and anything else that's appropriate, and opens up the discussion to the class.

■ A WEEK / Thursday / 10:30am to 12pm

CENJOYING CONTEMPORARY POETRY

(formerly Understanding Contemporary Poetry)

Coordinators: Joe Nathan, Eva Shatkin

From close reading and discussion of the work of contemporary poets, we uncover a whole new world of enjoyment. Class members present their chosen poems and lead a discussion of their selections.

■ B WEEK / Monday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

FICTION INTO FILM

Coordinators: Betty Farber, Harriet Greenberg

What happens to a work of fiction when it is adapted for film? At home, class members will read a short story the coordinators have assigned—a work chosen from authors ranging from Saki to Mark Twain to Noel Coward. Then, in class, we will discuss the story, followed by a screening of the film. (In some cases, the coordinators will edit the films to fit our time frame.) Finally, we will compare the written work with the film version.

■ B WEEK / Tuesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

FILM TODAY (formerly Today's Films)

Coordinators: Eleanor Chernick, Eileen Mund, Beverly Wasserman

Each class starts a half-hour early with an optional audio lecture on the history of film. The essential part of the class is the discussion of three films currently playing, which members will have seen on their own. Occasionally we choose a wide-release film, but more often we opt for independent and foreign films. The discussion may include a critique of the cinematic elements of the film, comparisons to other films by the same director, the actors' performances, any current issues that are addressed, and, if the film was adapted from a book, comparison of the film to the book.

■ B WEEK / Thursday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

all Courses

ew course SHORT FILMS:

LESS IS SOMETIMES REALLY BETTER THAN MORE

ordinators: Steve Allen, Marian Friedman Caroline Thompson

Short films—by definition, films less than an hour long, and often less han half that—are often a fascinating means of probing important political, social and philosophical issues. Join us as we watch some of the most important short films of recent years. They may make you laugh or ry, amuse or anger you. But all are guaranteed to spark a stimulating liscussion to follow.

A WEEK / Thursday / 10:30am to 12pm

ew course FOREIGN AFFAIRS

ordinators: Howard Salik, Sandra Southwell

In this course we will examine and discuss world affairs, problems und challenges, based on articles published in Foreign Affairs Journal. Presenters will review articles, along with relevant data from other sources (No homework necessary!), and then lead the class in an in-depth discussion of the material.

B WEEK / Tuesday / 10:30am to 12pm

RAND OPERA

ordinators: Frieda Lipp, Jerry Wiesenberg

This class is for the person who wants to appreciate and understand opera. At each session we show a video of an opera, and give a brief history of the work and its composer or we may select a common theme and show excerpts from various works. Members then discuss their reactions to the presentation.

B WEEK / Wednesday / 10:30am to 12pm

PW COURSE THE GREAT AMERICAN SONGBOOK

ordinators: Steve Allen, Bob Hartmann, Michael Wellner

so many of the songs we love and remember—such songs as White Christmas, Someone to Watch Over Me, Some Enchanted Evening, Oklahoma! and countless others—were written by immigrants, or the offspring of immigrants, and most of them were Jewish. How did these relative newcomers to America come to write what we know as "The Great American Songbook"? Over the course of two semesters we will examine each of these great composers in turn—starting with Jerome Kern, born in 1885—learning about their lives and listening to their music.

■ B WEEK / Tuesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

GREAT PLAYS

Coordinators: Roy Clary, Beverly Francus, Helen Neilson

We present leading European and American works. Each session begins with a brief biography of the playwright, followed by a reading performance of the play in edited form. There is then a class discussion of the theme of the play and its relevance to our lives.

■ B WEEK / Thursday / 10:30am to 12pm

THE HISTORY OF MEDICINE

Coordinators: Barbara Gordon, Bob Reiss, Sandra Southwell

This course will now focus on medical advances in history, as well as look at medical challenges in the world today. Topics will include discoveries such as DNA, circulation, vaccines, insulin, HIV/AIDS, in addition to questions about such subjects as tropical diseases, medical ethics, approaches to cancer, medical treatment in emerging countries, and medicine in the workplace.

■ B WEEK / Wednesday / 10:30am to 12pm

New course HISTORY OF THEATER

Stays same Coordinators: Roy Clary, Myra Nissen, Marilyn Rosen

It's a long road from the glorious drama of ancient Greece to the theater of today. In this course—through lectures and audio-visuals—we examine major theatrical periods, including those of antiquity, the medieval era, Elizabethan, Spanish, French and modern. In addition to the major plays and playwrights, we study acting styles, theater architecture and staging.

■ A WEEK / Wednesday / 10:30am to 12pm

III Courses

AGES OF WOMEN IN LITERATURE

redinators: Carole Abrahams, Joan Bonagura, Barbara Spector Karr le explore, through short stories, the many roles women play during their lifetime. After each class, selections for reading at home are assigned or the next session, when the group will discuss them. (For the first ession we will read the story together in class.) Information about the uthor will be distributed, when available. Each class also features a scussion of current issues relating to women's lives.

WEEK / Tuesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

IGENOUS MUSIC AND CULTURE

rdinators: Steven Koenig, Myra Nissen

We explore the music of indigenous peoples, using ethnic field recordigs, videography and modern works derived from traditional roots. The udy will be enriched with discussion and readings about history and altural anthropology, folklore, visual and performing arts, as well as betry and brief stories relevant to the music. This semester may include idian and Pakistani, Brazilian, Ethiopian, Japanese and East African usic, as well as music of the Slavic peoples.

WEEK / Tuesday / 10:30am to 12pm

RODUCTION TO THE GREAT BOOKS

bis semester's program will feature selections from classic works Freud, Rousseau, Darwin, Shakespeare, Hume, Tocqueville and mmel, to be read at home in preparation for discussion in class. The format is based on "shared inquiry": class members' discussion fact, interpretations and evaluation of the text in response to pordinators' questions.

WEEK / Monday / 10:30am to 12pm

w course ITALIAN FOR BEGINNERS

rdinators: Giuliana Buffoni Lopes, Laura Rocca Gold

his course is designed for Questers who have little or no knowledge of e Italian language. The coordinators will not teach grammar but will locak only in Italian presenting basic rules of pronunciation and common sentence patterns relating to well known subjects so that from the start, participants will understand what is being said. Through this method, they will learn vocabulary and begin to speak in Italian. Handouts and an Italian/English dictionary will be used.

■ A WEEK / Tuesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

VIRISH LITERATURE: POETRY, PROSE, PLAYS

Coordinators: Carolyn McGuire, Myra Nissen

This two-semester course will focus on selected works of the four Irish Nobel Prize winners: Shaw, Beckett, Yeats and Heaney as well as works of internationally recognized Irish writers. These include Oscar Wilde, James Joyce, Sebastian Barry, Lady Gregory and others whose works will be discussed. At the start of each semester one short novel will be assigned which will be discussed at the last session. Other than that, there will be minimal outside reading.

■ A WEEK / Tuesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

New course JAZZ: THE SOUL AND THE SOUND

Coordinators: Doreen DeMartini, Vivian Oliver, Carol Seltzer

In a journey through 100 years of a great musical tradition, we will use recordings and film clips to focus on seminal jazz musicians and composers, as well as jazz styles and culture. We will follow the evolution of jazz through ragtime, Dixieland, swing, be-bop, Latin jazz, and fusion, with strong emphasis on the jazz of today. Class discussion will be augmented with reports on various musicians, as well as such topics as Women in Jazz and Cultural and Political Influences on Jazz. Class members may also opt to participate in two visits to local jazz venues.

■ B WEEK / Thursday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

LIFE DRAWING

Coordinators: Carole Abrahams, Barbara Spector Karr, Gerrie Rude

In sessions of this course, students practice drawing the human form, using a live model. Participants provide their own drawing material—pads and pens, pencils, Conte crayon or charcoal, and a portfolio or sturdy bag. (No liquid media, please.) Materials can be stored at Quest.

■ A WEEK / Monday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

Fall Courses

MOVERS AND SHAKERS

Coordinators: David Robinson, Isidore Schwartzman

Who were the strong characters, men and women, who shaped their world and ours? We will examine the lives and accomplishments of the outstanding, and sometimes unexpected, personalities who made a difference to society and whose ideas and actions have had lasting influence, whether for good or ill. Our subjects range from Caligula to the Beatles.

■ B WEEK / Monday / 10:30am to 12pm

Some New course MYTHS AND THEIR MEANING

Coordinators: Betty Farber, Ruth Kovner, Carolyn McGuire

This course will examine the many myths that attempt to explain how our world came into being. Various cultures within Europe, Asia, Africa, South America and other areas have their own Creation myths. In each class we will summarize a myth and discuss its relevance to the culture from which it comes.

■ B WEEK / Monday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

New course THE PEOPLING OF AMERICA

Coordinators: Doreen De Martini, Trudy Owett, Michael Wellner

Those of us who live in the NY Metro area come into daily contact with people of vastly different nationalities, colors, backgrounds and religions. We take this for granted; for us, it's just "business as usual." But this is not always the case in most of the rest of the world. This course will examine why, how, and when these people (our ancestors)—Native Americans, Africans, settlers, refugees and immigrants—got here, and the profound influence they have had, and still have, on our city, state and country.

■ B WEEK / Monday / 10:30am to 12pm

POETS' WORKSHOP

Coordinators: Joan Bonagura, Barbara Spector Karr, Helen Neilson

The focus is on your poems in a supportive environment where you'll receive detailed feedback. You are encouraged to experiment, to explore language, and to address all aspects of the craft in order to develop your own distinctive style and voice. This class begins a half-hour early, at 12:30 P.M.

■ B WEEK / Thursday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

POINT OF VIEW

Coordinators: Russell Good, Barbara Gordon

This is an interactive discussion class, in which the coordinators (as well as the class members) bring in short opinion pieces—editorials, op-ed articles, reviews, etc.—that express a particular point of view. The class votes as to which of the pieces they wish to discuss that day and then argue for or against the views expressed.

■ B WEEK / Thursday / 10:30am to 12pm

VPROUST

Coordinators: Florence Granowitter, Joe Nathan

Bymoreel Proust We will continue our reading of In Search of Lost Times using the Modern Library edition of Marcel Proust's masterpiece. This semester we will read from the third volume, The Guermantes Way. Questers who are new to this ongoing class can obtain summaries of the first two volumes at online bookstores.

■ A WEEK / Thursday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

New course RELIGIONS OF THE WORLD

Coordinators: Eileen Mund, Gerrie Rude

Throughout history, human beings in all cultures have turned to religion to answer their questions about the unknown. How have their various beliefs affected their lives and the lives of those around them? We will be studying the religions of many civilizations other than the "Big Three" (Christianity, Islam and Judaism).

■ B WEEK / Thursday / 10:30am to 12pm

New course J. D. SALINGER: A RETROSPECTIVE

Coordinators: Myra Nissen, Jerry Wiesenberg

Some years ago, when Salinger's works were first published, did you feel a shock of recognition, identifying with Holden Caulfield or a member of the Glass family? If 50, how do you relate to them now? We will read at home some of Salinger's early works and discuss them in class. In addition, we'll watch the one film be made of his work—and try to determine why Salinger so hated the movie.

■ B WEEK / Tuesday / 10:30am to 12pm

III Courses

v course SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS FOR EVERYONE rdinators: Steve Allen, David Robinson, Burt Saltzberg

you're convinced that science and math are uninteresting and too hard understand, with this course we will try to change your mind. Our ew is that science and math are liberal arts, sources of works of great auty that can enrich everyone's life and be discussed in a way that is cessible to all. In each session we will examine an issue that is in the ews or has public-policy implications, or a subject that has wider altural implications. No topic will require prior readings, though an ticle (at about the level of the Science Times or Scientific American) ay sometimes be suggested.

WEEK / Wednesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

KESPEARE

rdinators: Roy Clary, Betty Farber, Stan Raffes

uring this term we will read aloud in class and discuss Two Gentlemen Verona. According to the distinguished author and critic Harold G. oddard, "In no other play of Shakespeare's are there so many premonions of later plays" as in this early comedy. As such, it is a wonderful troduction to Twelfth Night, The Merchant of Venice, Romeo and Juliet and other works in the Shakespeare canon.

WEEK / Wednesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

same

SUPREME COURT

rdinators: Martin Helpern, Alvin Kabot, David Robinson

e will examine and discuss in depth recent landmark decisions of the burt, as well as important issues raised by cases coming before the burt in 2010. WEEK / Tuesday / 10:30am to 12pm

New course SPINOZA: A VIEW FROM THE 21ST CENTURY Coordinators: Eleanor Chernick, Hy Gold

As a follow-up to our course on Spinoza a few years ago, we now take a deeper look into this philosopher's various theories from the vantage point of the here and now. The aspects covered will be Humanism, Political Theory, Science, Ethical Propositions, Psychology, and Biblical Analysis, as well as Spinoza's legacy to our century and beyond.

■ A WEEK / Monday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

WRITERS' WORKSHOP

Coordinators: Joan Bonagura, Barbara Spector Karr, Donna Rubens

Members read aloud their short stories, memoirs, essays and poems, to which the class reacts and offers suggestions. The critiques are supportive to both seasoned writers and beginners, and are intended to develop and encourage writing skills.

■ B WEEK / Tuesday / 1:00pm to 2:30pm

Something Extra

FRIDAY MUSEUM TOURS Coordinators: Joan Briller, Yvonne Kress

Inspired by the success of last year's visits to "under the radar" museums (The New York Historical Society, The Rubin Museum of Art), we plan to offer two more docent-led visits this semester. These Friday morning tours may include such interesting sites as the Onassis Cultural Center and the Museum of American Illustration. We will vary the experience each time, focusing on different disciplines- i.e., art, history or ethnic culture. Watch for a sign-up sheet on the Quest bulletin board. Lunch together after the tour is optional, and it's always at a restaurant an easy walk from the museum.
